

Rapid Analysis of Conservative Dentistry and Endodontics (RACE–2016)

Rapid Analysis of Conservative Dentistry and Endodontics is a state level exam oriented refresher program for final year undergraduates. It was started in 2015 and now the program is jointly organized in association with CEAT and conducted between June 10 and 11, 2016. The topics for this program were selected from the previous year university papers. These topics will be covered by the leading academicians from various colleges across the state.

The objective of this program was to orient the students toward the exam oriented topics and to approach the questions with keypoints that should be included in the answers. The students from various colleges throughout the state attended the program. They found the program was very interesting and useful for their exams to achieve higher score.
